

People Affected by Cancer have Questions.

The Oncology Interactive™ Education Series has Answers.

WHAT IS IT?

The Oncology Interactive™ Education Series (OIES™) is an award-winning cancer education software. Carefully developed with more than 400 oncologists, health professionals and patients, the OIES™ has won numerous awards and is certified by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO). The series consists of 27 titles, each offering over 20 hours of content that gives users an understanding of specific cancers. Featuring interactive graphics, 3D anatomical representations, animations and video interviews, the titles cover prevention and early detection, diagnosis, treatment and supportive care bringing clarity to complex ideas and procedures.

WHO IS IT FOR?

The series is divided into two levels: General and General+Clinical. These levels address the specific needs of cancer patients, their caregivers, health care professionals, medical students, clinics and institutions.

The General Level, written in clear and accessible language, gives patients and caregivers the information they need to best understand their condition. Informed patients can more effectively participate in the treatment planning process, have better treatment compliance, a marked reduction in anxiety and better outcomes.

The General+Clinical Level includes all of the content in the General Level as well as advanced information that can be used by health care professionals, medical students, and patients with a greater knowledge base.

HOW IS IT USED?

The series is available in several different formats. If you are a patient, family member or friend looking for comprehensive cancer information, the titles are available in CD-ROM format, perfect for use in the privacy and comfort of your own home. Doctors, hospitals and clinics meet the educational needs of their patients and staff by providing everyone at their location access to this engaging and comprehensive series. This may include an OIES™ lending library and/or providing the series electronically on a computer network (LAN). To find out more, visit the OIES™ Location noted below.
